

Free employment law guide on compulsory vaccination in care home settings

On 4 August, the government published their long-awaited guidance on how compulsory care vaccinations will work in practice, which requires all care home staff or anyone entering a care home (unless exempt) to be fully vaccinated as of 11 November 2021.

To help your business prepare, the HR & Employment Law experts of LCAS partner, Citation, have put together a free guide, summarising the key information in the government's 49-page operational guidance and the impact this key legislation will have on your care business.

DOWNLOAD

The free guide includes details on how employees can prove their vaccination status, how to record vaccination and exemption status, the data protection implications involved, who is exempt and other key information.
